Asians and Europeans discuss strengthening cooperation

On the occasion of the 2nd Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM) Summit held in Singapore from 3rd to 4th December 2003 as part of a ministerial conference, ASEM ministers of foreign affairs, economy and finance of the 15 Asian and European states attended to discuss issues like the: strengthening of strategic, economic, cultural and social relations; political dialogue; and increased cooperation in the fields of sustainable development in order to bring about further progress in the spirit of Asian and European progress. The aim of the meeting was to promote the integration of the two regions, and to contribute to the building of a democratic and non-aligned Asia.

Under the theme “Asia-Europe relations: past, present and future”, participants addressed many issues of bilateral relations. According to the press release, the main areas of discussion were: the “new” Asia-Pacific and European cooperation; cultural dialogue and its role in promoting the integration of the two regions; and the role of the European Union and its economic relations with the Asian countries.

Towards an Asian-European Economic Partnership?

The ASEM Summit, held in Singapore, was attended by leaders of 15 Asian and European countries, including the leaders of the ASEM (Asia-Europe Meeting) group of countries. The summit was aimed at strengthening the economic and political cooperation between the two regions, and at promoting the integration of the two regions.

Under the theme “Asia-Europe relations: past, present and future”, participants addressed many issues of bilateral relations. According to the press release, the main areas of discussion were: the “new” Asia-Pacific and European cooperation; cultural dialogue and its role in promoting the integration of the two regions; and the role of the European Union and its economic relations with the Asian countries.

Towards an Asian-European Economic Partnership?

The ASEM Summit, held in Singapore, was attended by leaders of 15 Asian and European countries, including the leaders of the ASEM (Asia-Europe Meeting) group of countries. The summit was aimed at strengthening the economic and political cooperation between the two regions, and at promoting the integration of the two regions.

Under the theme “Asia-Europe relations: past, present and future”, participants addressed many issues of bilateral relations. According to the press release, the main areas of discussion were: the “new” Asia-Pacific and European cooperation; cultural dialogue and its role in promoting the integration of the two regions; and the role of the European Union and its economic relations with the Asian countries.

Towards an Asian-European Economic Partnership?

The ASEM Summit, held in Singapore, was attended by leaders of 15 Asian and European countries, including the leaders of the ASEM (Asia-Europe Meeting) group of countries. The summit was aimed at strengthening the economic and political cooperation between the two regions, and at promoting the integration of the two regions.

Under the theme “Asia-Europe relations: past, present and future”, participants addressed many issues of bilateral relations. According to the press release, the main areas of discussion were: the “new” Asia-Pacific and European cooperation; cultural dialogue and its role in promoting the integration of the two regions; and the role of the European Union and its economic relations with the Asian countries.

Towards an Asian-European Economic Partnership?

The ASEM Summit, held in Singapore, was attended by leaders of 15 Asian and European countries, including the leaders of the ASEM (Asia-Europe Meeting) group of countries. The summit was aimed at strengthening the economic and political cooperation between the two regions, and at promoting the integration of the two regions.

Under the theme “Asia-Europe relations: past, present and future”, participants addressed many issues of bilateral relations. According to the press release, the main areas of discussion were: the “new” Asia-Pacific and European cooperation; cultural dialogue and its role in promoting the integration of the two regions; and the role of the European Union and its economic relations with the Asian countries.

Towards an Asian-European Economic Partnership?

The ASEM Summit, held in Singapore, was attended by leaders of 15 Asian and European countries, including the leaders of the ASEM (Asia-Europe Meeting) group of countries. The summit was aimed at strengthening the economic and political cooperation between the two regions, and at promoting the integration of the two regions.

Under the theme “Asia-Europe relations: past, present and future”, participants addressed many issues of bilateral relations. According to the press release, the main areas of discussion were: the “new” Asia-Pacific and European cooperation; cultural dialogue and its role in promoting the integration of the two regions; and the role of the European Union and its economic relations with the Asian countries.

Towards an Asian-European Economic Partnership?